

PEER JURY CONFIDENTIALITY QUIZ

Did the PEER JURY members break their promise of confidentiality in the following examples?

1. After being part of a PEER JURY conference, a PEER JURY member talks to another member during lunch the next day. This member was not present at the conference.
2. Ms. Adams, the disciplinarian, referred a student to PEER JURY. The next day she asks a PEER JURY member what the student said during the conference. The PEER JURY member tells her as much as he can remember.
3. During the PEER JURY conference, John a student who was referred to PEER JURY reveals that his dad hits him when he's at home. The PEER JURY members and the adult observer inform the proper authorities.
4. Bridget was referred to PEER JURY for never bringing her books to class. When asked why she didn't bring her books to class the PEER JURY members found out she had difficulty reading. Sarah, a PEER JURY member who has class with Bridget, tells their teacher what she found out in hopes that it would help Bridget out.
5. A PEER JURY member hears students in her fourth period class gossiping about two students who were referred to PEER JURY. A lot of what they are saying is incorrect. The PEER JURY member wants to correct the wrong details but remembers the confidentiality agreement she signed so she just says, "That's not what really happened."
6. Tony asks Martin, a PEER JURY member, about the PEER JURY program and what they do. He is particularly interested in the types of cases they hear. Martin tells Tony all of the details of the most recent case referred to PEER JURY but doesn't mention the student's name.
7. After a PEER JURY conference with Carl, Michelle a PEER JURY member at the conference goes to a friend's house. One of her friends tells a story involving Carl. Michelle mentions to her friends that she was with Carl earlier that day because he was referred to PEER JURY.